But Scott DesJarlais
DOES ANOTHER.

Abortions. Affairs. Abuse of Power.

Scott DesJarlais told us he is pro-life.

He told us he opposed abortion.

He told us he believes every life deserved to be protected.<sup>2</sup>

But the words have no meaning.

As a doctor and self-proclaimed pro-life, family-values congressman, DesJarlais pressured a woman he had an affair with to have an abortion.

Court records show DesJarlais engaged in several extramarital affairs, including one with a patient who he later pressured to have an abortion.<sup>3</sup>

“You told me you’d have an abortion, and now we’re getting too far along without one; DesJarlais tells the woman at one point in the call while negotiating with her over whether he’ll reveal her identity to his wife. They then discuss whether he will accompany her to a procedure to end the sort of life the congressman now describes as ‘sacred.’”<sup>4</sup>

DesJarlais admitted to other affairs with patients, including “a woman he prescribed pills for during their relationship.”<sup>5</sup>

“I’ve never been challenged or questioned in terms of my integrity before.”<sup>6</sup>

“We don’t need someone that says one thing and does another.”<sup>7</sup>
